

Patriot Mission™ Announces 2013 Nationwide Launch of Private Business Incubator Network to Promote Capitalism, Entrepreneurship and Free Enterprise.

On December 6th, 2012 at a special event featuring Grover Norquist, President of Americans for Tax Reform, Patriot Mission President, Steve Olds announced the 2013 launch of a nationwide network of Private Business Incubators to promote capitalism and entrepreneurship by creating millions of new small businesses in record time, even in the face of economic turmoil.

Politics on the Rocks hosted a special event featuring Grover Norquist, who spoke about the impact of skyrocketing taxes on entrepreneurship and jobs. Patriot Mission Founder, Steve Olds shared advance remarks outlining a strategy to engage small business owners and entrepreneurial apprentices to promote capitalism and tax reform in order to spur economic growth.

Mr. Olds credited Mr. Norquist, President of Americans for Tax Reform, with the idea that a new Tea Party 2.0 awakening, comprised mainly of small business owners and entrepreneurs, will inspire a massive campaign against future tax hikes and will dwarf the recent 2009 movement. Olds agreed, "As the small business community starts to realize what has been done behind the scenes to constrict capitalism, entrepreneurs will be inspired to find a way to save American small business."

"There is a deep hunger for a positive vision of the future, especially from young people who are saddled with massive student loan debt and no jobs." Olds explained his aggressive entrepreneurial focus is crafted to fulfill the Patriot Mission; "To Rebuild America through the Power of Small Business™."

Patriot Mission is not a political organization, but does encourage entrepreneurs to understand why elected officials make particular decisions, to get engaged in the process and to make their voices heard. "We need to help our citizens understand in a very practical way how businesses and jobs are really created to correct massive misinformation," said Olds.

Olds went on to say, "Americans are crying out for real leadership to combat the fear which is permeating today's society. Successful entrepreneurs face challenges, solve problems and make a profit. Even when our companies are jammed up with more regulations and financial restraints, it's time we dedicate a small percentage of our time to inspire and lead a new generation. There are millions of talented and skilled people of all ages who are ready to discover how to make money; even if it means becoming self-employed or starting a small venture."

As a combat seasoned, F15 fighter pilot, Mr. Olds has faced life and death at supersonic speeds. He has a passion to ignite America's future through free enterprise. The official launch of numerous incubators is expected in early 2013. Patriot Mission is inviting interested entrepreneurs, apprentices and free enterprise supporters to apply for special pre-launch participation in a limited number of local incubators.
